NOT FRANK M'KAY SAY FOWLER CREW

Ben Hastings Stranger With Whom There Was Trouble

All Suspicion Connected With Anyone on Boat Dispelled and Mystery Deepened.

EFFORT TO FIND HASTINGS.

That Frank McKay was not the person ejected from the cabin of the Dick Fowler the night of March 17, when he is supposed to have met death by drowning in the Ohio river, will be proven beyond a doubt when Ben Hastings is brought here to testify before the coroner's jury. All suspicion against anyone will then have been dispelled, and it will add to the mystery of young McKay's death, say officers of the Dick Fowler.

Ben Hastings, employed at The Eagle clothing store, Second street and Broadway, was the young man involved in the trouble in the cabin of the Dick Fowler, it is said. He has been out of the city since March 18, and is now at home up the Tennessee river. Efforts are being made by the officers of the Fowler to secure his attendance Tuesday when the inquest will be resumed.

"It was Ben Hastings," Captain Mark Cole, of the Fowler, declared this morning, "but we did not know for sure until this morning, when the engineer remembered his name and Watchman Joe Cunningham made inquiry where Hastings worked. The engineer knew the young man but was unable to remember his name. He finally located the Altman store as his place of employment, and learned beyond a doubt that Hastings was the person. Hastings lived at Hazel until a short time ago, when his people moved to some point on the Tennessee river and we are trying to locate him."

Hastings is tall, and was dressed exactly as described by officers of the boat and others who testified positively that the man was not McKay. Hastings went home on account of illness.

Saturday afternoon the inquest was continued until Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock that witnesses not yet summoned may be secured. No evidence of a startling nature developed. Coroner Frank Baker hopes to finally conclude the inquest tomorrow.

More Evidence in Sight.

The "three or four boys" who were standing on the larboard side of the boat when Pilot Leslie Broadfoot of the steamer Dick Fowler, noticed something dark move towards the edge of the hurricane roof and suddenly go overboard, may clear up the mystery of Frank McKay's death. Since the establishment of the fact that it was Ben Hastings and not Frank McKay, who had trouble with the mate, evidence has come to the ears of Coroner Frank Baker, which indicates that McKay was pushed or fell off the hurricane roof. While Leslie Broadfoot did not testify positively that he thought the object he saw go overboard was a man, Coroner Baker will have him before the jury again tomorrow.

Watchman Joe Cunningham, who was on the deck and heard the splash, it is said, now believes that it was a body.

Police men are trying to find a certain young man in the city, who is said to have been sitting in the darkness on the hurricane roof in company with a woman, and who is said to have seen the body thrown or forced overboard in a personal encounter with companions.

WATCHMAN SAVES MILLS FROM FIRE

Blaze in Langstaff Orme Manufacturing Company's Plant Discovered and is Promptly Extinguished

SERIOUS DAMAGE IS AVERTED.

Through the timely discovery and prompt action of Watchman William Johnson, colored, the Langstaff-Orme mills on the river front between Washington and Adams streets, were saved from destruction by fire Sunday afternoon shortly before 1 o'clock.

Johnson was making his noon rounds and smelled smoke. Running to the boiler room he found a large pile of wood stacked in front of the fire box, used in firing the furnaces, ablaze, having ignited from the furnace. He turned in an alarm and instantly put the private fire fighting apparatus into operation. Johnson had a stream of water playing on the burning wood when the fire companies arrived, and it required but a short time to completely extinguish the blaze.

The boilers are located under a frame shed, and the flames were leaping fast towards the roof. Had the discovery been delayed 20 minutes, the fire doubtless would have gained a headway on the dry buildings impossible to check without great damage.

Burglars entered the tool house at a telephone pole storage lot at the foot of Campbell street last night and stole several pairs of rubbers boots.

KELLOCK'S MOTHER EMPLOYS LAWYER

Sends Fee Through Mail to Hon. Hal Corbett, and Court Appoints Attorneys Campbell and Clay

CASE TRIED THIS AFTERNOON.

Senator J. Wheeler Campbell and Attorney Hal Corbett pulled off an "Alphonso and Gaston" stunt this morning in circuit court, when the case against Charles Kellock for malicious shooting and housebreaking, was called. Judge Reed had appointed Attorneys Campbell, Clay & Clay to defend Kellock, and in the meantime Attorney Corbett received a letter from the prisoner's "mother" directing him to defend her son, and enclosing a fee.

This was the state of affairs when Kellock was led into the court room. He remained silent while the attorneys talked. Campbell insisted that Corbett take the case since he had been employed, and Corbett was as courteous, and insisted in turn that Campbell and the Clays act.

After much arguing Corbett prevailed upon to represent Kellock and immediately moved for a continuance until next term. This was refused and the case was set for this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Corbett gave as his reasons for a continuance the absence of witnesses.

Kellock was arrested a few hours after the safe in Oscar Denker's saloon, Eighth and Harrison streets, was blown, and two robbers engaged in a pistol duel with Patrolmen Dick Wood and Billy Orr. His pistol was still warm and an old penny, which had been in Denker's cash drawer for years, was found in his pocket. It is estimated that Kellock, who has not spoken to any one about himself or case since arrested, will attempt to establish an alibi.

County Medical Society.

The McCracken County Medical society will meet Tuesday night with Dr. C. R. Lightfoot in the Columbia building. "Fatty and Fibroid Degeneration of the Heart" will be the subject of Dr. Lightfoot's lecture.

FOR CITY LEAGUE MOVEMENT STARTS

Is Believed Four Fast Teams May be Organized in Paducah to Make National Game Interesting

CULLEYS WIN FROM WEILLES.

Culley's 6; Welle's 5 was the score of yesterday's initial game between the two strongest local baseball teams. There were about 100 fans out to see the contest, which was gotten up hastily after the Metropolis Blues telephoned it would be impossible to come. Baker and Block, Hart, Arnold and Hays were the batteries.

The Cowling, on account of the weather, did not run an excursion yesterday, and Manager Trail, of the Culley team, attempted to secure a gasoline boat to bring the Blues here, but was unsuccessful.

The Culley team will go to Mound City next Sunday, the first game out of that city.

There is talk of organizing a city league in Paducah similar to that in Louisville and St. Louis. It is thought that enough players can be secured to make a four team city league, and Manager John Holland, of the Welle team, with others are working up interest in the venture.

Manager John Holland, of the Welle team, disputes the victory of the Culley team yesterday, alleging that his team was victorious by a score of 6 to 5, because four scores were run in by his team in the last inning. He says that his team was not complete and the game merely a "practice" game.

RURAL CARRIERS.

Will Meet in Paducah for Session Next Sunday.

Many rural letter carriers, members of the Kentucky State association will meet in Paducah next Sunday, for the purpose of granting a charter to the Christian County association. Waltham, Melber; vice-presidents Elbridge Bradshaw, of Hopkinsville, and Edward L. Francis, of Paducah, and treasurer, M. F. Rice, of Paducah.

ATTORNEY DELMAS SUMMING UP CASE

Defense Rests After Brief Session This Morning

Quarter of Million Dollars Settled on Evelyn Thaw by Her Mother-In-Law

BEFORE TRIAL COMMENCED.

New York, April 8.—Justice Fitzgerald today confirmed the report of the Thaw lunacy commission, finding Harry Thaw sane and directed the trial to proceed.

Dr. Allen McAlene Hamilton was the first witness called. Jerome's objections to questions by Delmas were sustained by the court and the witness was not allowed to state he believed Thaw was insane when he shot White. The witness was withdrawn and the defense rested. Delmas asked further time to complete his address. Court adjourned until 2 o'clock when Delmas commenced summing up. It is thought the case will go to the jury by Wednesday evening.

Evelyn Gets Fortune.

Pittsburg, April 8.—Word received from New York last night that Mrs. William Thaw had settled a quarter of a million dollars on Evelyn Nesbit Thaw before the commencement of the trial of her husband, Harry K. Thaw on the charge of murdering Stanford White, was confirmed here. This action it is explained was not necessary to induce Evelyn to tell the story on the stand, but merely, because Mrs. Thaw placed confidence in Evelyn.

LOSES SIGHT OF EYE.

Mrs. Saunders Fowler Suddenly Stricken Blind.

Mrs. Saunders A. Fowler will leave tonight for St. Louis to consult a specialist about the loss of sight in her left eye. Last Friday afternoon when Mrs. Fowler awakened from a nap, she was unable to see out of either of her eyes, but bathing and attention brought back the vision of the right eye, which now is normal. The left eye, however, continues to be partially blind and oculists and physicians here attribute it to a blood clot forming over the pupil. There was no indication whatsoever of trouble in her eyes before she awakened out of a nap Friday afternoon. The physicians here hold out the hope that the vision in the left eye will not be permanently impaired.

WATER SOAKED POLE WAS LOADED FOR MR. WHEELER.

B. Wheeler, foreman of the jacking track of the local Illinois Central shops, was severely shocked by electricity from a live wire in front of his residence near Jackson street on Ninth street Sunday. Mr. Wheeler noticed sparks on a pole and was curious to know the cause. He saw a wire twisted about the pole, and wherever it touched the wood, sparks would fly. He touched the pole and was knocked several feet by the shock. The entire water soaked pole was "alive."

Gates Pen Him in at Tennessee Street

Caught between railroad gates at the Tennessee street Illinois Central crossing, B. F. Kroos, a farmer of the Eden Hill section, was saved from serious injuries by not death, by the prompt action of a switch engineer Saturday afternoon. Kroos was driving home in his spring wagon. He did not hear an approaching engine, and the gates being up started across. When he got nearly over the tracks he saw the engine and the engineer saw him. The gates had been lowered and he could not back or go ahead. The air brakes worked admirably and the engine came to a standstill a few feet from the farmer.

Rising conditions in the Cumberland and Tennessee rivers with local rains have checked the fall in the river here. The fall for the last 48 hours was 1.5, from Saturday to Sunday the fall being 1.2 and only 0.3 from Sunday until Monday. The stage this morning, 20.9 is half as high as it was on the same date last year, 40.5. Business on the rivers among the towboats is good, and among the packets is fair.

The damage done by fire on the Georgia Lee does not appear to be as great as was first reported. That packet arrived today from Cincinnati, 30 hours late, and the repairs either will be made here or at Mound City. After unloading the Georgia Lee went down to Memphis.

The Peters Lee passed up from Memphis for Cincinnati, Saturday afternoon.

The Joe Wheeler arrived Sunday from Chattanooga and will return to that point tomorrow.

With the Shiloh excursionists on board, the Memphis and the Sallito will arrive Tuesday from the Tennessee river. The Sallito will go to St. Louis and the Memphis will leave Wednesday for the Tennessee river.

The Inverness was let off the ways Saturday and two barges were taken out for repairs this morning.

Inspectors Green and St. John arrived today to inspect the Clyde and tomorrow will inspect the Maude Kilgore. The Maude Kilgore will leave Wednesday for Helena, Ark., to get back into the towing business. Every time a boat comes from that far away to a Paducah ship building plant, it means another and more jobs because the quality of work done here is the kind that makes customers talk to their friends.

The John Hopkins arrived today considerably late from Evansville on account of a scarcity of hands, and left immediately on the return trip.

The West Kentucky Coal company's towboat, Eagle, will arrive tomorrow from the Mississippi river with a tow of 27 pieces.

The Butteroff arrived late last night from Nashville and got away on time at noon today for Clarksville.

The Mary Michael left early this morning for the Mississippi river after logs for local mills.

The Martha Hennen, Captain W. N. Muller at the wheel, arrived Sunday afternoon from the Cumberland river and left today for Evansville with a tow of logs.

Frank Molinski, for several months second clerk on the Dick Fowler, left today for Evansville to take a similar position on the Tarascon in the Evansville-Louisville trade.

Lee Rhodes was back in the office on the Dick Fowler today after a several weeks' lay off. Dick Willis who has been filling the position, has taken Frank Molinski's place as second clerk.

The Douglas went to Cairo yesterday afternoon late on towing business.

T. B. Pierson, captain of the Fannie Wallace, is out after a spell of sickness. Grace Davis has been in his position.

Don't Mistake the Cause of Your Troubles—A Paducah Citizen
Shows How to Cure Them.

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame weak or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary trouble sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles or they may lead to diabetes or Bright's disease. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all ills which are caused by weak or diseased kidneys. Paducah people testify to permanent cures.

I. L. Davless, 219 Broadway, Paducah, Ky., says: "I have been greatly benefited by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills which I procured at DuBois Son & Co.'s drug store. I had suffered with backache for some time but a short use of this remedy proved very satisfactory in relieving the trouble. I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills very highly to those afflicted in this way."

THEATRICAL NOTES

Blanche Bates in "The Girl of the Golden West."

As the star of "The Girl of the Golden West" a four act drama of California in the days of '49, written and staged by David Belasco, Blanche Bates comes to the Kentucky theater tonight.

No other offering that might be made on a stage in this city could be calculated to arouse more interest or more pleasurable anticipation than this visit of Belasco's foremost female star in the Belasco play in which she has been playing to enthusiastic audiences at the Belasco theater, New York, for the past two seasons. Miss Bates is a personal favorite in Paducah. That Miss Bates is a local favorite is evidence of her unusual ability while sufficient assurance of the value of "The Girl of the Golden West" as a vehicle for her talent is contained in its unusually lengthy New York engagement. Outside of New York and Pittsburg, where the play was first presented, and a few other cities, "The Girl of the Golden West" and Miss Bates as its star have not yet been seen.

India will eventually control the Oriental coal market. At present Japan is her only competitor, but Japan's coal area is only 6,000 square miles, with an annual output of 10,000 tons. India's present output is not so much, but her possibilities as a coal producer are far greater than Japan's, even including the Fushun mines in Manchuria.—Indianapolis News.

HEALTH OF WOMEN

In this nineteenth century to keep up with the march of progress every power of woman is strained to its utmost, and the tax upon her physical system is far greater than ever. In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers few drugs were used in medicines. They relied upon roots and herbs to cure weaknesses and disease, and their knowledge of roots and herbs was far greater than that of women today.

It was in this study of roots and herbs that Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., discovered and gave to the women of the world a remedy more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

is an honest, tried and true remedy of unquestionable therapeutic value. This medicine made from native roots and herbs contains no narcotics or other harmful drugs and today holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases of any medicine the world has ever known, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the laboratory at Lynn, Mass., which testify to its wonderful value.

Mrs. C. E. Fink, of Carnegie, Pa., writes:—Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— "I wish every suffering woman would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and write to you for advice. It has done me a world of good and what it has accomplished for me I know it will do for others."

When women are troubled with irregularities, Displacements, Ulceration, Inflammation, Backache, Nervous Prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Out of her vast volume of experience she probably has the very knowledge that will help your case.

COXEY REDIVIVUS

WILL CAMPAIGN ON "NEW AND ORIGINAL" LINES.

Says Country Is Ripe For His Advent With a Tent and a Train of Cars.

New York, April 8.—The Herald tomorrow will say:

"Jacob Sechter Coxe, of the Coxe army of 1894, is planning another great national crusade on new and sensational lines, and he may commence operations the present year. It all depends on the outcome of his investments. Since he went through bankruptcy two years ago, following the failure of the steel mill which he had built at his home in Mount Vernon, O., he has been engaged in retrieving his fortunes.

"Mr. Coxe was in New York several days ago and said:

"I am preparing to take up my campaign of education where I was forced to leave it several years ago. I shall conduct this campaign on new and original lines and in a way that will attract the attention of the nation. I will travel with an entire train of cars and a tent capable of seating many thousands. This country is becoming ripe for just such a great movement."

HIGH WATER.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 8.—Water is selling at $2 a barrel, owing to the famine created by the bursting of the city water mains. The city hired teams and is distributing water for domestic purposes, but can not supply the demand.

COUNTY SCHOOL PROPERTY.

Will Be Repaired and Improved This Summer.

J. S. Billington, superintendent of county schools, is his own architect and has completed plans for a new $1,000 school house in the Hovekamp district, No. 27. Work will begin on the new school at once. It will be a one story frame, spacious and with every convenience, cloak rooms and the best sanitary improvements possible to secure.

"This year I shall look after improving county school property, and particularly sanitation," Superintendent Billington stated. "The property is in fairly good condition, but there is a lot of work to be done in many districts."

In May one of the largest classes in years will be examined for teachers' certificates. Superintendent Billington expects fully 15 applicants, and desires to advise as to the books to be studied. Theory and practice will have to be secured from three books. They are "Roark's Methods in Education," "Carpenter, Baker and Scott's Teachings of English," and "The Little School Mistress," a pedagogical novel.

A RELIABLE STRENGTH CREATOR

Vinol is the latest scientific production of the greatest tonic re-builder the world has ever known, namely, cod liver oil.

In Vinol the useless, system-clogging, nauseating oil is eliminated, and the medicinal, curative elements known to exist in the cod's liver are administered in a highly concentrated form with tonic iron added.

This is why Vinol is so strongly recommended by physicians and guaranteed by over five thousand of the leading druggists of the United States as a body-builder and strength creator for old people, weak women, puny children after sickness, and for all pulmonary diseases. The doctor knows what he is giving, and the patient knows what he is taking.

Our leading druggist, W. B. McPherson, says: "We sell Vinol on a guarantee that it is and will do all we claim for it or refund money without question." W. B. McPherson, Druggist.

Note—While we are sole agents for Vinol in Paducah, it is now for sale at the leading drug store in nearly every town and city in the country. Look for the Vinol agency in your town.

INCENDIARY FIRE.

Destroys Barn of City Jailer Evitts in Arcadia.

An incendiary fire destroyed City Jailer Tom Evitt's barn at his summer home on the Blandville road Saturday night. The barn was one of the largest in the Arcadia section and the loss will be between $1,500 and $2,000. At 11 o'clock last night the city jailer and Robert Barnhart, who resides with him, smelled smoke but did not investigate. Shortly after the barn was seen in a mass of flames. All stock was rescued from the barn but a buggy, surrey, two double team wagons, and several tons of fodder were destroyed. The barn was owned by the T. E. Moss estate.

Out of Sight.

"Out of sight, out of mind," is an old saying which applies with special force to a sore, burn or wound that's been treated with Bucklen's Arnica Salve. It's out of sight, out of mind and out of existence. Piles too and chilblains disappear under its healing influence. Guaranteed by all druggists.

To Oppose Prohibition.

Ministers have filed a petition for the election, containing 1,700 names. They desire the election April 27.

NEWS NOTES FROM SUNDAY PAPERS.

Senator Pettus, of Alabama, called on the president and told him that there was serious objection among both Democrats and Republicans in Alabama to the proposed appointment of Oscar Hundley as the new federal judge for that state. Senator Pettus declared that Hundley was not fit for the place, and in view of the protests which have been pouring in against his appointment, it is possible that the president may change his mind.

Alexander Van Wyth and his wife have been reunited at Ashland after a separation of 35 years, and as a result of the reappearance of the husband, supposed to be long dead, the wife is insane over the thought of her two sets of children, by subsequent marriages, who are now made illegitimate.

Wild tobacco has been discovered growing luxuriously in the Montezuma valley in Colorado, and is pronounced a good grade of the product. The farmers of that section thought the tobacco a noxious weed, and have been trying to stamp it out. Growing of high-grade tobaccos will be attempted.

Thirty-two convicts in the state penitentiary at Frankfort will be baptized by immersion, and special religious services will be held in the prison chapel. The church inside the walls has added over 50 members within the last few months, and is in a flourishing condition.

"I'll sue the scoundrel!" exclaimed Algy, in a terrible rage. "He calls me a blithering idiot!"

"I wouldn't pay any attention to it," counseled Percy. "Blithering" doesn't really mean anything, you know."—Chicago Tribune.

The most notable "literary event" of London was the hanging at Tyburn on February 20, 1749, of two young Irish poets, Usher Gahagan and Terence Conner, "for filing the coin of the realm," then considered high treason.

His Own Idea.

Little Ted Brown was a strenuous lad, and had formed the not unusual habit of kicking and thumping his playmates.

One day his mother found him not only kicking and pounding one of his friends, but even spitting on him.

She was dumbfounded at this, and taking Ted into the house, said to him: "Ted, I don't know what to make of you; I think the devil has got into your heart and taught you this kicking and striking and spitting."

Ted, getting more indignant every second, looked up at his mother and said:

"Well, the devil may have taught me the kicking and striking, but this here spitting is my own idea!" —Alfred B. Squire, in April Lippincott's.

will cure in one night—it will always prevent a cold if taken on coming in out of the wet. Delightfully pleasant to the taste. Good for children. Good for everybody.

Gentlemen: Last November I was taken with a severe cold and cough. I used a bottle of standard expectorant and was not benefited in the least. I then tried another standard cough cure, but with no better results than with the expectorant. I was then recommended by a druggist at Covington, La., to try Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey and after taking one 25c bottle I was completely cured. This testimonial was unaltered, but you are at liberty to use it in any way you may choose. In my opinion you have by far the best cough medicine on the market. Yours truly, I. K. NORMAN, Oia. Ga.

Cures Coughs and Gives Strength to the Lungs.

Over 4,000,000 bottles were sold during the year 1904, on an absolute guarantee. Out of this vast number of sales money was refunded on only six bottles. This proportion—6 out of 4,000,000—is so exceedingly small that it hardly makes a ripple in the solid phalanx of satisfied customers. This is the unprecedented record of the most wonderful cough medicine on the market.

WHAT IS EDUCATION?

Efforts of members of the Paducah High School Alumni association to establish manual training in the city schools, at least, show a healthy interest in the schools, and while we should advise suspending action on the matter until the arrival of the superintendent-elect, always considering such matters of practice subjects for professional consideration, the suggestion recalls the question: what is the main purpose of public school education? Sometimes we doubt if even the teachers thoroughly understand both the object to be accomplished and the methods.
If they did, more attention would always be paid to the individuals and less to the class as a whole. This in turn involves the subject of the proper proportion of teachers to the enrollment.

We assume that the main purpose of education is to fit the pupil for undertaking the serious duties of life, and in this everybody will agree; but the majority of laymen seem to mistake the manner in which the pupil is to be fitted, and here is where all the fallacies about "practical education" and reforms in the curriculum arise.

Proper education is the training of a child physically and mentally, so as to make of him an uniformly developed being, capable of sustained mental and physical exertion, whose functions of mind and organs of body co-operate harmoniously. A person perfectly educated, allowing for such defects as are inherent, should be capable always of distinguishing right from wrong, that is reducing every question to its true in-—Philadelphia Press.

premise and reasoning it out to its logical conclusion; should be possessed of the will and inclination to adopt and follow out the right. He should have a healthy mind, well poised; and a confidence, begotten of perfectly attuned functions and nervous system, and control of the organs and muscles of the body, which insures immediate response to the being's will. Incidental to the accomplishment of this purpose in the school of course, is the overcoming of natural or acquired defects, and so, co-operation in the home.

When considering changes in the curriculum, we should always have regard for this main purpose of education and, naturally, the best judge of such matters is the school man.

If it is true that the college man has the advantage over the uneducated man, it is not because the college man has absorbed a lot of book knowledge. We too often hear of a so-called self-educated man excelling the college bred man to understand it that way. The significance of it is, that the college man has had his faculties and functions trained, and his physical being disciplined to obey the commands of the head. There is no lost motion about his thinking or acting.
Harmony of thought and action are developed by his training.

Modern thought has worked great changes in educational methods. It has been only a few years since many learned men entertained a sort of contempt for the English language, and prided themselves on their knowledge of Greek and Latin. The latter are still important elements of mental training, but now stress is laid on the student's ability to speak and write pure English. There is another step in this development that must come before it can be said we have perfected ourselves in English and have done our duty by the pupils. Perfect control of the organs of speech is just as important as control of any other organ in equipping a child for his life work. Many a brilliant scholar has lost ten years of progress after being graduated, because of his lack of ability to express himself in the English language, with which he is perfectly well acquainted. To be fitted for the duty of teaching in our public schools, teachers should themselves be trained to the proper manipulation of the organs of speech, so that their speech is pure and enunciated correct. Slovenliness of speech is typically American, and manifested in the dialect of every section. The children acquire it from their nurses, hear it in the home and in the school room, and those who are naturally hampered by timidity, have their self-confidence the more impaired by the uncertainty of their control of the organs of speech.

Perhaps if parents would understand and appreciate the effect of this school room training on the future of their children, and realize that pupils, graduated from a school in which the objects of education are constantly regarded and the highest ideals rigidly maintained, go out into the world better equipped for the struggle and possessed of an advantage over their less ably trained fellows, that can never be made up this side of the grave, they would insist on securing trained teachers in the public schools, and pay them salaries which their professional training commands.

If people, who walk along Broadway, admiring the up to date fronts of the stores and the well paved street, could see the condition of alleys behind those stores they would form a different conclusion about the progress and ability of the public officials responsible for the continuance of such conditions in public highways.

That laborer who lay pinioned under a car for three hours waiting for a fuse to burn up to a charge of dynamite, must have felt like Senator J. B. Foraker, after his interview, declaring in favor of a popular primary.

While Senator William A. Clark, of Montana, was driving across a river, the ice broke and he nearly drowned. However, Senator Clark is not the only senator who has been on thin ice.

It is unfortunate that after a year spent in permanently improving some of the county roads, it is considered advisable to desist for a year until the deficit created is wiped out.

Some of our paved streets might be cleaned more often to the enjoyment of citizens and the credit of the department of public works.

Perhaps, if Nicholas would abdicate, it might encourage Tom Platt and Chauncey Depew.

SPRING FEVER DAYS.

If we might paraphrase a little we could aptly say "Now comes the Spring of our discontent."

With all the joys of the season—the first touch of balmy weather, the inspiration in the buds and blossoms, and green fields, the call of outdoors, come its concomitants, those fagged, tired out feelings, laziness, dullness and headaches incident to this climate—Spring fever in all that term implies.

Accustomed to it for years you demand a Spring tonic. Do you know the best Spring tonic is a breath of fresh air, rational diet, and exercise?

Osteopathy prescribes the fresh air, and rational diet and furnishes the exercise—scientific manipulation.

In all cases of disordered liver, or bowels or stomach—in conditions of impaired blood, disturbed circulation and all spring ailments Osteo-pathy is now recognized as the most rational, the quickest and most efficient cure.

I should like to tell you at any time some of the great achievements of Osteopathy, if you are interested, or refer you to some of your friends who can and will gladly attest to what Osteopathy has done, or is doing for them. Come to see me at my office at any time from 9 to 12
a. m., or 1 to 5 at 516 Broadway,
Phone 1407, Dr. G. B. Froage.

YOU'D be astonished, if you knew the number of Men that now come here for their Clothes, who formerly patronized
the Custom Tailor.

Our determination to excel in the Clothing business and our constant efforts to make Manufacturers come up to our standard has resulted in the production of such Clothing as any Man would be glad to wear.

There's as much difference between our Choice Garments and the other kind of Clothing as there is between the genuine diamond and the imitation sort.

We'll hitch more value, style and satisfaction to your dollar than you're apt to get anywhere else.

the improvements that are now being made; thence east to include the Thurman addition; and thence north to the Tennessee river. Much building is being done south of Tyler and in Tyler, and the houses are good.
It is estimated such an extension will increase the population of Paducah one thousand and add thousands of dollars to the value of city real estate. There are many thickly settled little places in that district, and it is building up rapidly; for it is a desirable location for residences.
School trouble between those who want a graded school and those who do not, would be settled by entering

Moss. She latter announced the safe arrival of the party at Manila on March 4, after a delightful voyage of 28 days from San Francisco, which Miss Anderson only regretted was not two months. Washington's birthday was observed with patriotic ceremony on board the ship, and an entertainment was given in honor of disembarking passengers at Guam.

After a short stay at Manila, Miss Anderson will proceed directly to the home of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Moss, which is a two days' boat ride from Manila in the mountains, at Paguegaran in the province of Cagayan. Mrs. Wheat will accompany her.

A Patient Angler.

If ever there was an enthusiastic fisherman it was old Jones. He was quite content to sit for hours on the banks of the stream, hoping for a bite, and if he didn't get one, his mind thrilled at the thought of what splendid sport he had two years ago. Thus he was found by a fellow angler. "Fished long in this stream?" he asked pleasantly.

"Twenty-three years," was the laconic response.

"Then this stream must be worth fishing in," went on the stranger. "You must get a lot of bites."

Gazing intently at his rod, Jones replied with zest:

"Two years ago, in this very spot, I had as fine a bite as any one need wish for. And I shall get another yet."—London Answers.

"WHAT IS CIVIC BEAUTY?" SUBJECT OF ADDRESS BY JUDGE WM. MARBLE

Before Open Session of Civics Department of The Woman's Club—Interesting Paper on Subject of Citizen's Duty to His Home Town

Judge William Marble made the following address before the Civics department of the Woman's club:

"Until within recent years the people of the United States have been too busy getting rid of wild Indians, wild animals, clearing up forests, breaking up prairies, opening mines and building up their material interests to think much about beauty, but the great expositions which have been held have given a great impetus to the study and practice of beauty for beauty's sake, and it is eminently proper that women should take up the study of Civic beauty, as is now being done all over the country.

"Some great men said that 'The beautiful is as useful as the useful,' and I think no one can study the subject without thinking so. At any rate, those strong minded men, whom we usually designate as business men, seem to think so, for if they be manufacturers they put their wares into the most beautiful shapes and colors, or surround them with the most beautiful boxes or wrappings; and if they be merchants they dress their show windows in the most beautiful ways they can. Why? Because it pays from the practical standpoint of money. So, too, if a man has a house and lot to sell, he knows that a little touch of beauty about the house itself, or a few trees or flowers about the place, increases the chances of sale, and almost certainly the actual price of the property.

"So, from a purely money point of view, beauty pays and is as useful as the useful; but this is even more apparent when looked at from the standpoint of the community, for beauty is a greater civilizer and educator.

"Our subject today is 'General Civic Beauty,' and, to me, it divides itself into two heads.

"First—What makes civic beauty?" "Second—How can the Woman's club aid in the matter?"

"I am not an architect or a landscape gardener, but it takes neither of these to know at least a few of the underlying principles of the city beautiful, and I shall mention some of them.

"The very first principle is that of cleanliness. As cleanliness is next to Godliness in man, so it is in a city. As a man, no matter how handsome, cannot be said to be beautiful so long as he is covered with soot and grime, so neither can a city be beautiful without cleanliness.

"Next, for a city to be beautiful there must be uniformity in some things and variety in others, as for instance, a street must be uniform in width and direction to be beautiful. A street that is wide in one part and narrow in another part, then wide again is, not pretty. A winding lane may be pretty in the country or in a park, but not in a city. A street should be straight and uniform in width to be beautiful.

"So, too, a uniform sky line in the business part of a city is more beautiful than an uneven sky line.

"But when we come to consider the architecture of a city, the beauty of the city consists largely in variety in the styles of its houses, and especially of its residences. And again when we come to the painting of houses, it is variety rather than uniformity that constitutes beauty; and in this connection it may be said that the beauty of a city is largely conserved by using light colors rather than dark and sombre colors.

"But at last, when all is said about civic beauty we must for the beauty of cities rely largely on grass and trees and flowers, and it is here, probably, more than elsewhere, that your club can do the most good.

"Now what can your club do to help in the cause of general civic beauty in this city?"

"I answer it can do much, but you must make up your minds to persistently keep up the fight until success is attained.

"You can keep the question before the people by editing a column in your city papers on the subject.

"You can keep the officers of the city up to their duty as to the cleanliness of the city.

"You can raise funds and buy small trees from nurseries or others, and distribute them gratis to those who will agree to plant and cultivate them until they get thoroughly established.

"You can distribute flower seed and encourage the cultivation of flowers.

"You can scatter flower seed on vacant lots, and thus give the people an object lesson in beautifying the city.

"You can encourage the people to have nice grass plots about their houses.

"You can encourage those about to build houses to add a touch of beauty to the building instead of having a blot of ugliness on the fair face of the city.

"You can solicit and encourage those about to paint their houses to give a light, cheerful and airy appearance to the home instead of a sombre and funeral appearance.

"You can encourage the merchants and bankers to cultivate window gardens as they do in the cities of England and Scotland; and thus add to the beauty and attractiveness of the business part of town.

"You can join the Civic Association of America, and from it get ideas which you can carry into effect.

"And you can make of Paducah what it should be—a city beautiful."

BONA-FIDE HOMESEEKERS.

Department of Interior Is Seeking To Protect Them.

Lewiston, Idaho, April 8.—In an interview here last night, W. M. Reese, who for several years was secretary of the committee on public lands of the house of representatives, and who has been assigned as a special agent to the Lewiston district, outlined the attitude of the government and the president in regard to the public domains. "It is the policy of the department of the interior to aid all honest homeseekers in acquiring public lands according to law," said Mr. Reese. "Neither the president nor the secretary of the interior have any desire to lay any great burden on the homeseeker. The federal officials appreciate the fact that public lands should pass into the hands of only bona-fide homesteaders and it is my duty as an officer of the government to carry out that policy."

Not less than 370,000,000 of copper wire were in use on the telephone lines in America last year. This year there is expected an increase of 53,000,000 pounds. Considerable quantities of copper are used in the manufacture of brass for telephone instruments.

TRY THIS AT HOME.

Mix the following by shaking well in a bottle, and take in teaspoonful doses after meals and at bedtime:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. A local druggist advises that these simple Vegetable Ingredients can be obtained at nominal cost from any good prescription pharmacy.

This mixture is said to cleanse and strengthen the clogged and inactive kidneys, overcoming Backache Bladder weakness and even the worst forms of Rheumatism, which, as everyone knows, is produced by excessive uric acid and other poisonous waste matter which the kidneys fail to sift and strain from the blood.

Every man or woman here who feels that the kidneys are not strong or acting in a healthy manner, should mix this prescription at home and give it a trial.

ALTON WRECKERS MAY BE GRILLED

Governor Deneen, of Illinois, Gets Opinion

Operators Made $24,648,600 Out of Deal and Increased Debts $80,646,218.

CIVIL REMEDY IS AVAILABLE.

Springfield, Ill., April 8.—That Governor Deneen is planning to second the actions of President Roosevelt in laying the "big stick" across the backs of E. H. Harriman and others of the railroad kinds, is evidenced in an opinion handed to Governor Deneen today by Attorney General Stead.

The opinion treats of the manipulation of the Chicago & Alton railroad properties within the last few years by Harriman and some of his financial associates, including G. J. Gould, James Stillman and Mortimer L. Schiff. It is given in response to a request from Governor Deneen on March 22 last, in which the attorney general is asked to advise what his conclusions are in the matter and what action, if any, is contemplated by the legal department of the state.

Civil Remedy for Road's Wrecker. After setting out at some length the various manipulations to which the railroad corporations and properties worning the Alton system were subjected, Attorney General Stead concludes that there is not the least doubt that a civil remedy exists against the "financiers who have wrecked this prosperous railroad company, and at the expense of innocent stockholders and bond holders, have gathered to themselves a harvest of millions of dollars."

Mr. Stead is doubtful, however, whether it is within his province of the state of Illinois to enforce the remedy. The revocation of the company's charter which apparently would be the natural procedure on the part of the state, would bring most of the suffering upon innocent stockholders, Harriman and his Wall street friends having already unloaded a large part of their holdings.

According to the figures in Mr. Stead's opinion, Harriman and the men associated with him made a total profit of $24,648,600 out of their operations involving the Alton properties. As a result the railroad companies are thrown into hopeless bankruptcy.

Indebtedness Greatly Increased. The indebtedness of the companies as shown by the opinion, has been increased a total of $80,646,218 since they fell into Harriman's hands. Of this amount only $22,600,000, according to Harriman's own testimony.

MOTHER GETS INCUBATOR BABY

Wins in Long Legal Fight for Child Exhibited at St. Louis.

Topeka, Kan., April 8.—The Kansas supreme court decided today that Mrs. Charlotte E. Bleakley, of Lawrence, is entitled to the "incubator baby" exhibited at the St. Louis world's fair. This reverses the decision of the Douglas county district court and upholds the decision of the circuit court of Illinois, which held that Mrs. Bleakley is the mother of the child.

The decision today ends a most interesting fight for possession of the baby. James G. Barkley and Stella Barkley, his wife, who were in charge of an exhibit at the St. Louis fair, saw the baby in the incubator connection. They traced its parentage to Mrs. Bleakley, of Lawrence, who was persuaded to sign a deed of adoption to Mrs. Barkley. The baby had been placed in the concession by a St. Louis midwife, who, it developed later, had told Mrs. Bleakley that it had been born dead.

Mrs. Bleakley, uncertain that the child was really hers, and wishing to aid Mrs. Barkley to gain possession of it from the midwife, signed the adoption papers. Later Mrs. Bleakley, becoming satisfied that the child was her own daughter, sought to reclaim it. The case was tried in Illinois, and Mrs. Bleakley given the custody of the child. The Barkleys made another effort, however, to regain possession through the district court of Kansas. The Kansas district court finally gave judgment for the Barkleys, but Mrs. Bleakley kidnapped the child, escaped to Illinois and placed herself under the jurisdiction of the court which had decided in her favor.

Engene F. Ware, former commissioner of pensions, finally took Mrs. Bleakley's case before the Kansas supreme court, which now gives her the custody of the child and coincides with the decision of the Illinois court that she is its mother.

Extra Gas Charge.

There is a boarding house keeper in Jersey City who gave a rare exhibition of thrift recently. One of her boarders had committed suicide by gas, and the dead man's executor, in settling his estate, discovered a bill from the landlady for 50 cents' worth of gas. On making inquiries, the executor was informed by the woman that it was her custom to read her gas meter each day, to keep tabs on the amount of gas consumed by the boarders, and that on the day of the suicide the meter showed that 50 cents' worth of gas more than usual had passed through it. This, she charged, the dead man had used in killing himself, and she saw no reason why she should pay for it. The executor paid the bill.—New York Tribune.

It is also a specific remedy for all such chronic or long standing cases of catarrhal affections and their resultant, as bronchitis, throat and lung disease (except consumption) accompanied with severe coughs. It is not so good for acute colds and coughs, but for lingering or chronic cases it is especially efficacious in producing perfect cures. It contains Black Cherry bark, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot, Stone root, Mandrake root and Queen's root—all of which are highly raised as remedies for all the above mentioned affections by such eminent medical writers and teachers as Prof. Bartholow, of Jefferson Med. ## CHAPTER VI.

AT precisely half past 5 on the following evening Duncombe alighted from his petit voiture in the courtyard of the Grand hotel and, making his way into the office, engaged a room. And then he asked the question which a hundred times on the way over he had imagined himself asking. A man to whom nervousness in any shape was almost unknown, he found himself only able to control his voice and manner with the greatest difficulty. In a few moments he might see her.

"You have a young English lady—Miss Poynton—staying here, I believe," he said. "Can you tell me if she is in now?"

The clerk looked at him with sudden interest.

"Miss Poynton is staying here, sir," he said. "I do not believe that she is in just now. Will you wait one moment?"

He disappeared rapidly and was absent for several minutes. When he returned he came out into the reception hall.

"The manager would be much obliged if you would step into his office for a moment, sir," he said confidentially. "Will you come this way?"

Duncombe followed him into a small room behind the counter. A gray-haired man rose from his desk and saluted him courteously.

"Sir George Duncombe, I believe," he said. "Will you kindly take a seat?"

Duncombe did as he was asked. All the time he felt that the manager was scrutinizing him curiously.

"Your clerk," he said, "told me that you wished to speak to me."

"Exactly," the manager answered. "You inquired when you came in for Miss Poynton. May I ask, are you a friend of hers?"

"I am here on behalf of her friends," Duncombe answered. "I have letters to her."

The manager bowed gravely.

"I trust," he said, "that you will soon have an opportunity to deliver them. We are not, of course, responsible in any way for the conduct or doings of our clients here, but I am bound to say that both the young people of the name you mention have been the cause of much anxiety to us."

"What do you mean?" Duncombe asked quickly.

"Mr. Guy Poynton," the manager continued, "arrived here about three weeks ago and took a room for himself and one for his sister, who was to arrive on the following day. He went out that same evening and has never since returned. Of that fact you are no doubt aware."

Duncombe nodded impatiently.

"Yes," he said; "that is why I am here."

"His sister arrived on the following day and was naturally very distressed. We did all that we could for her. We put her in the way of communicating with the police and the embassy here, and we gave her every assistance that was possible. Four nights ago mademoiselle went out late. Since then we have seen nothing of her. Mademoiselle also has disappeared."

Duncombe sprang to his feet. He was suddenly pale.

"Good God!" he exclaimed. "Four nights ago! She went out alone, you say?"

"How else? She had no friends here. Once or twice at my suggestion she has taken one of our guides with her, but she discontinued this as she fancied that it made her conspicuous. She was all the time going around to places making inquiries about her brother."

Duncombe felt himself suddenly precipitated into a new world—a nightmare of horrors. He was no stranger in the city, and grim possibilities unfolded themselves before his eyes. Four nights ago!

"You have sent to the police?"

"Naturally, but in Paris—monsieur must excuse me if I speak plainly—a disappearance of this sort is never regarded seriously by them. You know the life here without doubt. Your account proves that you are well acquainted with the city. No doubt their conclusions are based upon direct observation and in most cases are correct, but it is very certain that most of the superintendent regards such disappearances as these as due to one cause only."

Duncombe frowned, and something flashed in his eyes which made the manager very glad that he had not put forward this suggestion on his own account.

"With regard to the boy," he said, "this might be likely enough, but with regard to the young lady it is of course wildly preposterous. I will go to the police myself," he added, rising.

"One moment, Sir George," the manager continued. "The disappearance of the young lady was a source of much trouble to me, and I made all possible inquiries within the hotel. I found that on the day of her disappearance mademoiselle had been told by one of the attendants in the barber's shop, who had waited upon her brother on the night of his arrival, that he—M. Guy—had asked for the names of some cafes for supper and that he had recommended the Cafe Montmartre. Mademoiselle appears to have decided to go there herself to make inquiries. We have no doubt that when she left the hotel on the night of her disappearance

It was to there that she went." "You have told the police this?" "Yes, I have told them," the manager answered dryly. "Here is their latest report, if you care to see it."

Duncombe took the little slip of paper and read it hastily:

Disappearance of Mlle. Poynton From England.—We regret to state no trace has been discovered of the missing young lady.

JULES LEGARD, Superintendent.

"That was only issued a few hours ago," the manager said.

"And I thought," Duncombe said bitterly, "that the French police were the best in the world."

The manager said nothing. Duncombe rose from his chair.

"I shall go myself to the Cafe Montmartre," he said.

The manager bowed.

"I shall be glad," he said, "to divest myself of any further responsibility in this matter. It has been a source of much anxiety to the directors as well as myself."

Duncombe walked out of the room and, putting on his coat again, called for a petit voiture. He gave the man an address in the Rue St. Honore and was driven to a block of flats there over some shops.

"Is M. Spencer in?" he asked the concierge.

He was directed to the first floor. An English manservant admitted him, and a few moments later he was shaking hands with a man who had shaken before a table covered with loose sheets of paper.

"Duncombe, by all that's wonderful!" he exclaimed, holding out his hand. "Why, I thought that you had shaken the dust of the city from your feet forever and turned country squire. Sit down. What will you have?"

"First of all, am I disturbing you?" Spencer shook his head.

"I've no press work tonight," he answered. "I've a clear hour to give you, at any rate. When did you come?"

"Two twenty from Charing Cross," Duncombe answered. "I can't tell you how thankful I am to find you in, Spencer. I'm over on a very serious matter, and I want your advice."

Spencer touched the bell. Cigars and cigarettes, whisky and soda appeared as though by magic.

"Now help yourself and go ahead, old chap," his host declared. "I'm a good listener."

He proved himself so, sitting with half closed eyes and an air of close attention until he had heard the whole story. He did not once interrupt, but when Duncombe had finished he asked a question.

"What did you say was the name of this cafe where the boy disappeared?"

"Cafe Montmartre."

Spencer sat up in his chair. His expression had changed.

"The devil!" he murmured softly. "You know the place?"

"Very well. It has an extraordinary reputation. I am sorry to say it, Duncombe, but it is a very bad place for your young friend to have disappeared from."

"Why?"

"In the first place, it is the resort of a good many of the most dangerous people in Europe—people who play the game through to the end. It is a perfect hotbed of political intrigue, and it is under police protection."

"Police protection! A place like that!" Duncombe exclaimed.

"Not as you and I understand it perhaps," Spencer explained. "There is no Scotland Yard extending a protecting arm over the place and that sort of thing, but the place is haunted by spies, and there are intrigues carried on there in which the secret service police often take a hand. In return it is generally hard to get at the bottom of any disappearance or even robbery there through the usual channels. To the casual visitor, and of course it attracts thousands from its reputation, it presents no more dangers perhaps than the ordinary night cafe of its sort, but I could think of a dozen men in Paris today who if they entered it I honestly believe would never be seen again."

Spencer was exaggerating, Duncombe murmured to himself. He was a newspaper correspondent, and he saw these things with the halo of melodrama around them. And yet—four nights ago! His face was white and haggard.

"The boy," he said, "could have been no more than an ordinary visitor. He had no great sum of money with him; he had no secrets; he did not even speak the language. Surely he would have been too small fry for the intrigues of such a place!"

"One would think so," Spencer answered musingly. "You are sure that he was only what you say?"

"He was barely twenty-one," Duncombe answered, "and he had never been out of England before."

"What about the girl?" "She is two years older. It was her first visit to Paris."

Spencer nodded.

"The disappearance of the boy is, of course, the riddle," he remarked. "If you solve that, you arrive also at his sister's whereabouts. Upon my word, it is a poser. If it had been the boy alone—well, one could understand. The most beautiful ladies in Paris are at the Montmartre. No one is admitted who is not what they consider—chief!

"Police protection! A place like that!" Duncombe exclaimed.

The great dancers and actresses are given handsome presents to show themselves there. On a representative evening it is probably the most brilliant little roomful in Europe. The boy, of course, might have lost his head easily enough, and then been ashamed to face his sister. But when you tell me of her disappearance, too, you confound me utterly. Is she good looking?"

"Very!"

"She would go there, of course, asking for her brother," Spencer continued thoughtfully. "An utterly absurd thing to do, but no doubt she did so. They would know who she was, and—look here, Duncombe, I tell you what I'll do. I have my own two news grabbers at hand and nothing particular for them to do this evening. I'll send them up to the Cafe Montmartre."

"It's awfully good of you, Spencer. I was going myself," Duncombe said a little doubtfully.

"You idiot!" his friend said cheerfully, yet with a certain emphasis. "English from your hair to your boots, you'd go in there and attempt to pump people who have been playing the game all their lives and who will give you exactly what information suited their books. They'd know what you were there for the moment you opened your mouth. Honestly, what manner of good do you think that you could do? You'd learn what they chose to tell you. If there's really anything serious behind all this, do you suppose it would be the truth?"

"You're quite right, I suppose," Duncombe admitted, "but it seems beastly to be doing nothing."

"Better be doing nothing than doing harm," Spencer declared. "Look round the other cafes and the boulevards and come here at 11 tomorrow morning. We'll breakfast together at Paillard's."

ALMOST ANARCHY IN TRIGG COUNTY

Over Spoilation of Tobacco Plant Beds

Independent Growers Are Retaliating Against Association Members in Places.

TROUBLE IS GROWING SERIOUS.

Hopkinsville, Ky., April 8.—Affairs in Trigg county are rapidly reaching a state of lawlessness amounting almost to a state of anarchy in the section extending from Gracey to Cerulean Springs and beyond. People here from that section said that nearly all of the plant beds had been ruined, the association members suffering with the rest. One informant stated that the beds of Mr. Nabb and other association leaders, it is reported, have been sowed with grass seed. It is believed that a spirit of retaliation has been aroused and that from now on nobody's tobacco bed or barn will be safe. This is the legitimate outcome of the lawless spirit that has disgraced Trigg, Caldwell and Lyon counties for months.

Now and then a man is heard of who is not utterly terrorized. Kiah Malone, one of the men whose beds were sowed about two weeks ago, is reported to have appeared at an association meeting at Mt. Era school house on the night of March 23, and to have boldly accused one of the men present of sowing his beds, and declared that he had tracked him from the bed to his home. The man accused got out a warrant last week for Malone's arrest in Trigg county.

It is said that Malone took steps to get out one also for his arrest. After a talk over the telephone with parties in Cadiz, it was decided that Malone's plant beds were in Christian county and not in Trigg. The warrant sworn out for his arrest has not been served.

If this state of affairs is as represented the Christian authorities at last have a case to deal with this side of the Trigg county line. Mr. Malone has not yet asked for a Christian county warrant. Those who know him best, say he is a fearless man and cannot be intimidated. He lives on the county line, and it is a doubtful question, which county has jurisdiction. If he knows who destroyed his property he can get a warrant in Christian county, if it occurred here, and bring about a much needed investigation of a species of lawlessness that must be stopped by law-abiding communities. It is a penitentiary offense to destroy plant beds, and if Kiah Malone knows who destroyed his beds, he owes it to the society as well as himself to prosecute the guilty party.

The safest and most reliable cough and cold cure and lung and throat healer ever discovered. Guaranteed by all druggists. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

The Conclusion.
A group of workmen were arguing during the dinner hour. A deadlock had been reached when one of the men on the losing side turned to a mate who had remained silent during the whole debate, says London Times.

"Ere, Bill," he said, "you're pretty good at argument. Wot's your opinion?"

"I ain't a-goin' to say," said Bill. "I thrashed the matter out afore with Duck Grey."

"Ah!" said the other, artfully, hoping to entice him into the fray, "and what did you arrive at?"

"Well, e-venchualy," said Bill, "Dick he arrived at the 'resptat an' I arrived at the perlice station."

THREE HOURS' TORTURE

Experienced By Laborer Held Down Near Dynamite.

Terre Haute, Ind., April 8.—John Connors a laborer with a construction gang building an extension of the Monon line near Cataract, passed through three hours of extreme physical torture and mental terror today.

He, with several other workmen, jumped aboard a dirt car, after fixing a fuse to several hundred pounds of dynamite which had been placed to blow out a quantity of rock. The car had barely started when it jumped the track, catching Connors underneath the wreckage, only a short distance away from the sizzling fuse. His companions ran, panic-stricken, leaving him to his fate.

Connors lay with a broken leg, pinned under the car, helpless and awaiting the explosion which would blow him to bits. But good fortune intervened and the fuse went out when within an inch of the detonating cap.

His companions were afraid to rescue him and left him three hours before venturing to the spot. Connors was brought here and placed in St. Anthony's hospital. He may die as a result of his injuries and nervous shock.

Dodge; William Egan, Waterloo, Iowa; George Wells, Memphis, and Chris Cannon, Water Valley, Miss. They stated that a settlement is expected this week. They were greatly pleased with Paducah.

MUSSEL SEASON HAS NOW OPENED

Fishers Leave For Evansville Owensboro District

Ohio River Mussels Made Into Buttons in New York—Many Valuable Pearls Are Found.

POLICE ARE MUCH RELIEVED

When Paducah housewives buy pearl buttons in the dry goods stores, the connection between them and the shanty-boats in Island creek and along the river bank near Paducah, seems remote. Nevertheless the connection is direct. Today the tow-boat Martha H. Hennen left for Evansville and had in tow, four shanty-boats which are going up to Evansville and Owensboro to fish for mussel shells. The mussel season has opened and the migration of shanty-boats which began today, will continue probably until all are gone.

The mussel shells got out of the river bed by these shanty-boaters are shipped to New York, where they are made into pearl buttons. They are the most extensively used shells for this purpose and it is probable that many garments worn in Paducah are held together by Ohio river mussel shells. As a stimulant to fishing for these mussel shells, many fine pearls are often found in them. The money made from the sale of pearls found annually in Ohio river mussel shells, is enormous, and the market for the shells themselves, makes the occupation a profitable one for the shanty-boaters.

Their departure on the annual fishing expedition will afford a great relief to the police department. The county authorities, too, are relieved, as it has been practically a fruitless undertaking to collect taxes from these citizens. The river interests will see them go gladly, as the disappearance of much valuable rope and ship accessories, has been largely attributed to some of the shanty-boats.

Captain G. W. Newman, of the Martha H. Hennen, says that Evansville and its vicinity is the rendezvous now of nearly all the shanty-boats in these inland streams.

FELLOW LABORERS IN CHRISTIANITY

“God Giveth The Increase.” Says Dr. S. B. Moore

Large Congregations Green New Pastors of First Christian Church on Sunday.

AUDITORIUM NEARLY READY.

A large audience greeted the new pastor, the Rev. S. B. Moore, at the First Christian church, at both services yesterday.

At the morning service the sermon was in the nature of a salutory, based upon 1 Cor. III:7-8, and the congregation gave the closest attention to the remarks of the minister as he outlined, in part, the work to be done.

Dr. Moore spoke tenderly of the relations that should obtain between pastor and people, declaring that he came not alone to conserve the interests of his own people but hoped to contribute in an humble way to the betterment of the whole community. Stress was laid upon the statement of the apostle that “God giveth the increase.” The preacher may deliver the message, and the congregation may supplement the ministrations of the pulpit, but after all the increase must come from God.

“We are simply laborers together with God, and to Him victory be- logeth,” he said. “Any sort of dash or flourish of trumpets, human demonstration, is of little moment in comparison with the eternal purpose of God to save men by the exaltation of the Christ crucified, as the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world.”

“As fellow laborers with God, there is no one so poor or obscure as to have no part in winning the world for Jesus Christ.

“We have this treasure in earthen vessels that the excellency of the power may be of God and not men. The vessel may be a poor one, and defective, but the treasure—the truth of God is eternal and divine.

“Like causes produce like results. Therefore, to have re-enacted the scenes of the first Christian century the same means must be employed, the same gospel preached, and that gospel lived in the sacrificial lives of Christ's disciples.

“Every man shall receive his own reward according to his own labor. Every man! In preparing for aggressive work for the Master, every member should take an inventory of his or her talents, powers, capabilities. Your reward is sure, but measured by service and sacrifice, you make it great or small.”

Dr. Moore expressed his confident belief that he would have the hearty cordial support of the whole church in his efforts to advance the cause of the Christ in the city. The people are of one mind in their resolve to second the efforts of their minister to lead the congregation into fields of the largest usefulness.

It is expected that the auditorium will be ready for occupancy in a very short time.

EVENTS OF THE WEEK.

The forecast for important events of the week follows:—

The present week probably will see the end of the famous trial of Harry K. Thaw for the murder of Stanford White. Twelve weeks have elapsed since the case was first called, but during that time there has been several interruptions. With the report of the lunacy commission, however, and the decision of District Attorney Jerome not to carry his protest against the confirmation of the report to the appellate division of the supreme court, it now seems as if the trial has a clear road to a definite conclusion.

One of the important events of the week will be the dedication of the Carnegie institute in Pittsburgh. The exercises will occupy three days and will be participated in by representative statesmen, educators and scientists of America and many foreign countries.

Boran De Estournelles de Constant founder of the Association for International Conciliation, who came to America to attend the National Peace conference, soon to be held in New York, will visit President Roosevelt at Washington in response to a special invitation. He will spend tonight at the white house. On Tuesday he will be the guest of the Brazilian ambassador at a dinner given in his honor.

A HOME uses but few refrigerators in a life time. Say a Bohn lasts only twenty years. Don't you see how trifling is your annual price saving in selecting a cheap box instead of the slightly higher priced Bohn Refrigerator? A Bohn, too, saves its cost almost every year in provisions that it keeps from spoiling as well as the strict economy in ice.

A cheap refrigerator usually “eats its head off” in foods wasted and in ice consumed, so that the first difference in favor of the ordinary refrigerator is a genuine extravagance of saving.
